

All the best to all those racing this weekend!! We've got club members currently making their way to London for the big one tomorrow, and we'll also have a decent turnout at Chester for the metric and full marathons there, including marshals and spectators!

But before that, today is the first cross country race of the XC league at Wrexham. Good luck to all running.